

Written in fall 2001 by Seth, Steve, Jenny, and Elizabeth (maybe even more)

CHANUKAH SONG
(sung to the tune of Adam Sandler's Chanuka Song)

This song was "highly" personalized with first (and often last) names of particular students in the class. The blanks would allow for personalization for another class. It's not great mathematics or even in particularly "good taste" but the kids seem to enjoy it. One blank space means just a first name, two together means a first and last name.

Calculus is an investigation of motion
Instead of writing essays, we have numerical devotion
So when you look at a problem and the answer you can't see
Here's some Jews to help you, just like you and me.

Little ____ listens to the teacher,
We all have rabbis not a preacher
Guess who studies together the night before a test
____ and ____ two of our very best.
You could read a book or pound a large drum
Or you could study calculus with our teacher (she's Jewish too)

Some people think that Calculus is easy
We don't like these people
They are all in "BC"
____ ...Not a Jew but guess who is?
____ and ____ too.
So many Jews are in this class
____ isn't but she has a really big ...
We've got ____ and her good friend ____
____'s half Jewish, not too shabby.
____'s Jewish, ____'s Jewish too
Put them together, what a fine looking Jew?

So don't forget to study math
Try not to unleash your teacher's wrath
We will impress the entire staff
We hope this song will make you laugh
And if you really wanna be on the right path
Study, study, study, study ...
Calculus
Study Calculus.